Married Yesterday—In the parlors of the Main street house at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Justice P. J. Goodman of this city, performed the civic ceremonies which united in marriage Mr. Charles Clinton Wheeler and Miss Ethel May Sabine, both of this city.

Foot Amputated—Saturday night a logger was brought in from Gray's River suffering from a crushed foot, a log having rolled over it. He was taken to the St. Mary's hospital here, where it was found necessary to amputate the injured member. The man was a native of Finland, though his name could not be learned.

Compact and Complete—One of the bijou little establishments in Astoria is the millinery house of Mrs. A. E. Peterson, in the Star Theatre building. Her complete and beautiful fall lines are most temptingly arranged and the display, for its scope, is one of the best in Astoria.

Property Sold—Block 55, McClure's, was sold yesterday afternoon by Thomas Linville, as referee, under a partition sale in the case of C. S. Brown and Anna Wilkinson against the executors of the Corbett estate. The single bid submitted was by Frank Patton, trustee, for $10,000, to whom the property was sold.

Died Sunday—Sunday evening John Nikki, a fisherman of this city, died after an extended illness of liver complaint. The deceased was 25 years old and a native of Finland. The funeral will take place this afternoon at one o'clock under the auspices of the Finnish Brotherhood, of which order the deceased was a member. The interment will be in Greenwood cemetery.

Cannery In Ashes—Word reached this city from Captain Thomas Huden, engineer for the Porter Fishing company, at Kasaaan Bay, Alaska, announcing the loss of the company's cannery at that point in the dawn of September 5. The cannery itself is in ashes, but the warehouses were saved, though 19,000 cases out of the season's pack of 30,000 were sacrificed. The headquarters of the concern are at Seattle and Anacortes, and it is said the entire loss is fully covered by insurance.

Waterfront Burglary—In the "wee sma" hours of Sunday morning some bold hand burglar entered the office of the Callender Navigation company, on its pier through the outboard window on the north side (an ideal point for such work). He went through the agency box of the steamer Telegraph maintained there, and carried off $26.25, but disturbed nothing else on the premises. There is no clue to the thief, but it is evident he was perfectly familiar with the office he invaded.

Overcome With Fumes—It is now certain that the gasoline tank of the launch, Zephyr which was found on the sand-spit near Pillar Rock on Saturday evening last and without a soul on board, was leaking badly and the theory now prevails that Alfred Gustafson, who was in sole charge of the boat when she left here, bound up river at 3 o'clock, was made sick and faint by the fumes that rose from the bilge; that he went out to the rail for relief and fell over the side. The Elliott brothers, it is said, saw him fall from the vessel, and this accident moved them to go out to the rescue. They failed to find any trace of the young pilot and his death is now conceded past all doubt. The young man had barely passed his majority, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Gustafson, have their home over in the Young's River country. The owner of the launch, Ed Gardlin, of Chinook, and a cousin of the unfortunate young man, by the same name, left up the river yesterday morning to prosecute the search for the body.

A Jolly Bunch—Thirteen beautiful young ladies, products of the sage brush plains of Idaho, passed through Astoria yesterday on their way home from an outing at Long Beach. The party is composed of those successful in a recent contest conducted by the Lewiston Evening Teller of Lewiston, Idaho, and is in charge of Mr. and Mrs. Foreman of the Teller. The young ladies are a jolly lot and enjoying their outing to the fullest extent. They stopped in Astoria two hours. Miss Estelle Read, a member of the party, is the young lady chosen to be Queen of the Lewiston Clarkston fair, which takes place the week beginning Oct. 8, at Lewiston. The others in the party are Inez McGill, Ada Houghton, Sadie Lyle, Ida Sailor, Lois Pelton, Essie Davis, Lulu Nickel, Jessie Bangs, Emma Kalka, Lois McKinney, Elba Holmberg and Rebecca Cron. The young ladies left on last night's train for Portland, and will return the last of this week to their several homes.

You Can't Help It—The Louvre entertainments this season, are, for artistic quality the talk of the city. One cannot help enjoying the real excellence of the program, it is so genuinely good, both in scope and presentation. Miss Nina Beason, the "colored shouter," in her specialty, "Good-bye, Mr. Greenback, Good-bye," is inimitable and never varies the real merit of her performance. Miss Marie Wandreth, the artist on flute and saxophone, has a mastery of her instruments that is proven nightly by the unstinted applause granted her. Miss Elaine Elaine Forest has sung herself into the hearts of the Louvre patrons by splendid and conscientious work, and maintains her sway. Fred Purinton and his illustrated songs are invariably pleasing and as surely encores as he sings them; and the moving pictures are a rich source of delight night after night.

Fishing Season Opens—Yesterday at noon the fall fishing season opened. It is expected that more fishing will be done this Fall than is customary during the Fall season and the following canneries have declared their intentions of opening for business: Eureka cannery of the Columbia River Packers' Association; Altona Packing Co., Seaborg, Brookfield, McGowan and Falangos at Cathlamet. It is understood that several cold storage plants will also open. Prices fixed by the canneries are: Silversides, 2 cents; Chinooks, 2 cents; Tules, 10 cents each; Dog-fish, 5 cents each. Lindenberg's plant has announced the following prices for fish: Chinooks, 2 1/2 cents; steelheads, 4 1/2 cents.

Attempt Failed—About 4 o'clock on Sunday morning Aaron Roni, a resident of Uppertown, was lodged in the city bastille much the worse for liquor. He grew tired of his incarceration in a short time and when the officers had left proceeded to tear out a heavy cast iron water pipe in the cell. With this he smashed the window pane and a heavy iron screen over the window and attempted to pry the iron bars apart. In this last he was foiled, as the bars were in solidly and defied his efforts. When the result of the prisoner's attempted jail break was discovered, Roni was lodged securely in the "tank," where he will spend a protracted period of time.

To Pastures New—Mr. Willard and his company who have just closed a pleasant and profitable engagement of six weeks at the Star Theater in this city, left for Salem yesterday morning, where they are billed for State Fair week, at the Grand. Mr. Willard and his people have made many friends here during their stay, not only by reason of their professional ability and conscientious presentation of their fine repertoire, but through their personal attributes of courtesy and thorough good will, manifested off the boards as well as on them. After the Salem engagement closes they will tour Idaho and go to California for their winter dates.

ASTORIA, OREGON

Fine Specimen—Harold Johnsson, one of the bright young men who were in the service of the Alaska Fishermen's Packing company at Bristol Bay, this summer, and who has just arrived home on the Drummond brings with him one of the most beautiful specimens of carved ivory work sent out from there in a long time. It is a splendid twenty-inch, snow-white ivory walrus tusk, carefully and clearly carved by its Indian craftsman, with a dozen specimens of the animal kingdom best known in those latitudes, and is finished to serve as a cribbage counter, and cost him $18. He did not hesitate to say he would refuse an even $100 for it, and he could doubtless have gotten it handsomely.

Will Take a Holiday—Superintendent John McGuire of the Astoria & Columbia River Railroad company, will leave in a few days for the first vacation he has had in nearly thirty years, going direct to his old home in Chicago. He will stop, en route, to visit with a daughter dwelling in Idaho, during the brief period of a lay-over between trains, and expects to be gone for about three weeks. Mr. McGuire is one of the all-around, valuable men in the service, and is appreciated for many fine qualities, both in and out of his office. That he may find infinite pleasure and rest in the outing will be the wish of many a friend in this city and in Portland.

Examinations Continued—Under the supervision of Miss Badollet, the examinations will be taken up this morning at the High School building, in behalf of the dozen or more young people who are seeking to make good for the fall term grades. Arithmetic will be the subject matter of the morning session and spelling will be taken up in the afternoon.

Buried Yesterday—The funeral of the late Mrs. Mary Whidby was held yesterday afternoon from the residence on Harrison avenue, Rev C. C. Rarick of the First Methodist church officiating. The interment was in Greenwood cemetery.

Death of Infant—Zora Barbarich, the 23 months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Barbarich, died Sunday afternoon at the home of her parents at 1581 Franklin avenue. The funeral will take place today from the family residence.

Killing Season Over—C. W. Loughrey and Eric Nelson arrived in the city yesterday. These gentlemen put in some lively work this season, despatching seals off the coast, shooting over 700 at the jetty and in the rookeries.

Civil Service Exam—Secretary C. T. Crosby, of the local civil service commission, announces that there will be an examination held at the federal building in this city, on October 3, for the position of Clerk-Carrier in the postal service.

Done in Probate—Judge C. J. Trenchard, sitting for probate matters yesterday, made an order in the estate of Christiana Maria Olsen, approving the final account of the executor in all things and discharging him from all further liability and duty in the premises.

Chief Deputy Here—At 9:30 o'clock yesterday morning the home of Sheriff and Mrs. M. R. Pomeroy was brightened by the safe arrival of a fine, hearty 10 1/2 pound baby boy. The youngster brought his lungs with him and immediately assumed the dictatorial post of chief deputy sheriff, which was instantly conceded. Mother and son are both doing finely and the sheriff will get down to business in a day or so.

Tour of Inspection—Directors F. J. Taylor, Gust Holmes and J. A. Eakin, in fact all there is left at home of the city school board, President J. E. Higgins and Director J. W. Welch being now en route to the East, have made a tour of inspection over the buildings and property of the district, with a view of ascertaining what repairs might be imperatively necessary this year and what might be safely left for the coming year. They find that the Adair building is in want of immediate attention in several minor ways and will fill the bill at once, and this done, the district buildings will be in receptive condition for the hosts of youngsters for one more term, when nearly all of them will have too be overhauled and put in thorough shape. The board is peculiarly pleased with the success achieved at the McClure building in their attempt to check the sinking of its frontage by the planting of sustaining piers and the introduction of the new drains to carry off the accumulating underground waters, and feels that the further damage to the property is radically and finally checked.

Admiral Scully Home—Dell Scully of this city, admiral of the Skamokawa regatta, with his staff, has returned from the water festival at that lively north-shore metropolis and reports a season of unparalleled and uninterrupted fun. Dell shared the honors of the occasion with the pretty queen, Katherine L. and his officers were showered with kindness and favors from all hands and all directions. The affair was a genuine success in all its phases and the chief pleasure of the event was found in the generous and faultless courtesy of the Skamokawans, so the Astorians say, and they are pretty competent judges.

Will Take an Appeal—Frank Williams was tried before a jury in Justice Goodman's court, on a charge of larceny of money, having been accused of holding up $15 change out of a twenty-dollar gold piece delivered him in a certain saloon in this city. The jury was made up of the following named citizens: Dudley Blunt, J. N. Laws, David Shanahan, Frederick Sherman, L. R. Abercrombie and Dan W. Ingalls. Their verdict was "guilty," and the court imposed a fine of $40, from which adjustment of the matter notice of appeal was instantly filed, and will probably be prosecuted in the circuit court. C. J. Curtis represented the defendant.

In Effect Now—The new winter time card of the Astoria & Columbia River Railroad company, went into effect yesterday morning and those who have occasion to use the line (and there are several in Astoria) would do well to scan it for future use.
